 - 6/ provision of general advice shall not account for the provision of investment advice service,
 - 7/ the Bank shall not provide investment advice services unless, in order to provide such service, the Bank enters with the Customer into a written agreement on providing investment advice services.
2. The Bank shall not be liable for any actions or investment decisions, or for any investment results, including in particular under the Transactions entered into with the Bank, generated by the Customer in connection with providing general advice, or for results of such actions and decisions.

§ 4. Risks

1. The Bank, acting in accordance with its knowledge of the market and experience, shall present the Customer with a general description of the risks attributable to the transactions on financial instruments. When entering into a Transaction, the Customer should in particular take into account the following:
 - 1/ risks indicated in the Transaction Description, including the market risks,
 - 2/ legal risk attributable to the possibility of changes to legal regulations or, potentially, to non-observance thereof; a change in the legislation or an illegal/unlawful activity may result in sudden and significant deterioration in the business parameters, and, therefore, may adversely affect the valuation or settlement of the Transaction,
 - 3/ financial leverage effect; the Derivative Transactions or forward transactions entail the so-called financial leverage effect, which means that a Transaction may yield a very large profit (including premium payment) or bring a very large loss in comparison with funds committed by the Customer in order to enter into the Transaction (in particular payment of premium or establishment of Collateral) accounting only for a portion, quite often insignificant, of the nominal value of the Transaction; therefore, a change in the market risk factors may result in a proportionally greater change in the current pricing of the Transaction (Net Present Value) or the amount of settlement of the Transaction in comparison with the funds committed by the Customer,
 - 4/ potentially high volatility of prices and valuations of the Transaction, understood as the volume of the price or the Transaction valuation fluctuations in specific time frames; considering that the Transaction is an instrument of the over-the-counter market (so-called "OTC Market"), Transaction valuation and price may be subject to high, quite frequently salutatory, changes, even in short time intervals, and the dynamics of these changes may take various levels; high volatility may in particular be the result of a limited volatility of the OTC market,
 - 5/ requirements related to establishing the Collaterals; in accordance with these Terms and Conditions, the Customer shall be obligated to establish a Collateral for the Transaction settlement; as a result of adverse market changes that have effect on deterioration in the valuation of the Transaction, the Customer may need to supplement the Collateral up to the value of the Required Collateral; the Customer should also be aware that in the event of the Transaction termination, entering into a repurchase Transaction or settlement of the Transaction, a potential loss may exceed the amount of the established Collateral; the Collateral established by the Customer pursuant to these Terms and Conditions shall not be treated as an advance payment, earnest money or any other performance on the account of the fulfilment of future obligations of the Customer towards the Bank in connection with the executed Transaction; such Collateral may be set off against those obligations pursuant to these Terms and Conditions or the Credit Support Agreement,

- 6/ The risk of contracting a financial obligation as a result of entering into a Transaction; when entering into a Transaction, the Customer contracts an obligation that may consist in the payment of the settlement amount, premium or payment for the currency delivered, securities or in the delivery of currency or securities and/or greenhouse gas emission allowances; obligation consisting in the payment of the settlement amount is an obligation with an amount thereof not specified in advance that may result for the Customer with a debt on the Settlement Date; obligation to deliver sold currency may become converted into financial obligation in accordance with the provisions of these Terms and Conditions or the Transaction Description in the event of the Early Termination or failure to perform the obligations by the Customer; the remaining claims of the Bank against the Customer that may arise in connection with entering into the Transaction are set out in these Terms and Conditions or Transaction Description.
- 7/ the fact that Debt Securities, including Debt Securities being the subject of the Sell-Buy-Back Transactions and financial (monetary) means being the subject of collateral under which the ownership title is transferred by the Customer to the secured entity (the Bank) may be used by the Party to which the ownership title has been transferred. As a result:
 - a/ it is not possible to deliver a Debt Security on the Settlement Date, which has the following consequences:
 - i. the Parties will have to modify the Transaction Terms by changing the originally set Transaction Settlement Date or
 - ii. a Debt Security being the subject of the Transaction will be replaced by another Debt Security with the same features, or
 - iii. the Party which did not deliver the Debt Security will be obliged to pay the amount being the equivalent of the purchase price of the same Debt Security on the initially set Settlement Date;
 - b/ in the case when bankruptcy or restructuring proceedings are instigated towards the Bank, the procedure and rules of refunding of the collateral provided will be subject to relevant provisions of the Bankruptcy or Restructuring Law,
 - c/ in the case when the collateral is seized by the authority which has initiated enforcement proceedings towards the Bank, the Customer may demand the return of the collateral from the Bank, however, this case may lead to a situation presented in letter a).

The measures referred to in letter a) may cause a loss in the case when one of the Parties undertakes an obligation towards a third party, the subject of which will be the Debt Security not delivered on time.

Entering into the Transaction after the effective date of this provision will be treated as the Customer's consent to using the collateral transferred to the Bank.
2. The Customer should carry out assessment of the risk, financial, legal, accounting and tax consequences as well as suitability of the financial market Transactions for his business activity; the assessment should be performed by the Customer on his own or by way of obtaining professional advice from independent entities that have relevant knowledge and experience in this respect.
3. The Bank shall not guarantee that the Customer achieves any specific economic result in connection with execution of the Transaction. Entering into a Transaction may generate either profit or loss.
4. The Customer shall enter into the Transactions on his own risk and responsibility; the Bank shall not be liable to the Customer for any loss that the Customer may suffer as a result of entering into a Transaction with the Bank, including in particular a loss resulting from non-comprehension or incorrect understanding by the Customer of the character or structure of the Transaction.
5. The Bank shall be liable for damage incurred by the Customer in connection with the Bank's failure to perform or properly perform the Master Agreement or the Transaction, up to an amount of the damage actually suffered by the Customer (the Bank shall be liable for the Customer's loss but not for the lost profits).

§ 5. Entering into Transactions and Recording Communication

1. Transaction shall be executed upon making concordant declarations of intent by the Parties with regard to the Transaction Terms.
2. Transaction may be executed by telephone or e-mail (provided that the Bank has given its consent to such a form), in particular through the Transaction Platform. Should the Bank wish to introduce in these Terms and Conditions an additional form of agreeing on the Transaction terms, the Bank needs only to inform the Customer thereof for such additional form to be effective.
3. The Bank may agree to executing the Transactions by way of offer and acceptance, which shall consist in submitting by one of the Parties an offer for entering into a Transaction on specific Transaction Terms. The Party submitting the offer shall specify the type of the offer and its validity date, including in particular the date and exact time of expiry of the offer. Upon submission of the offer, the Parties may reserve that the other Party's acceptance of the offer shall depend on occurrence of a specific event, in particular occurrence of a specific asset price, currency exchange rate or interest rate on the market. Provisions of Article 66¹ § 1 to Article 66¹ § 3 and Article 68² of the Civil Code shall not apply.
4. The Customer may withdraw its offer, provided that the Bank confirms that the offer has been withdrawn. If the Bank accepts an offer just before its expiry date, information that the offer has been accepted may be made available and sent to the Customer after the expiry of the offer's deadline.
5. When entering into Transactions, the Parties may agree on the Transaction Terms other than those specified in the Transaction Descriptions, provided that this is expressly specified in the course of agreeing on such Transaction Terms.
6. The Parties may specify the Transaction Terms with regard to the mandatory conditions specified in the given Transaction Description using wording different than that provided in such Transaction Description, including in particular wording used in the trading practice, provided that the respective Transaction Terms defined in such Transaction Description may be attributed to such differently phrased definitions.
7. The persons authorised to enter into the Transactions on behalf of the Customer shall be individuals named by the Customer in the power of attorney contained in the Information Sheet or in a different power of attorney, provided that such power of attorney has been previously delivered to and approved by the Bank.
8. Those authorised to agree on the Transaction Terms on behalf of the Parties shall be made:
 - 1/ with regard to the Customer, if the Transaction Terms are being agreed:
 - a/ over the phone – specifying the Customer's name and its full name, by the attorney in fact agreeing the Transaction Terms;
 - b/ through the Transaction Platform – by positive identification and authentication of the person authorised by the Customer, which is carried out in the mBank CompanyNet system;
 - c/ by e-mail – by contacting the Customer at the e-mail address specified by the Customer or his attorney in fact before the Transaction Terms have been agreed;
 - d/ via electronic platforms used in the interbank market, including technical solutions offered by Thomson Reuters or Bloomberg – when an identifier which explicitly indicates the Customer and its attorney in fact as the Party making a declaration of will appears on the Bank's computer screen; at the Bank's request, the Customer is obliged to provide the Bank with an additional document containing a list of identifiers referred to in the previous sentence, assigned to particular persons entitled to enter into Transactions;
 - 2/ with regard to the Bank, if the Transaction Terms are agreed:
 - a/ over the phone – by specifying the full name of the authorised employee of the Bank;
 - b/ by e-mail, by sending e-mail from the office e-mail box including the full name of the authorised employee of the Bank;
 - c/ via electronic platforms used in the interbank market, including technical solutions offered by Thomson Reuters or Bloomberg – when an identifier which explicitly indicates the Bank as a Party making a declaration of will appears on the Customer's computer screen.
9. If a Transaction is executed by telephone, the Parties shall have the right to additionally identify each other by giving a password and answerback. Should such identification be impossible, the Parties shall have the right to refuse to enter into the Transaction.
10. In line with the MiFID and MiFIR, the Bank records phone conversations and electronic communication, in particular the conversations or communication during which the Transaction Terms are agreed on. The Parties give their consent to recording communication. The recorded phone or electronic communication may be used as evidence in the case of any differences between the Parties as regards the conclusion and execution of the Master Agreement or Transactions, and in the case of arbitration or judicial proceedings.
11. The Customer shall be responsible for a Transaction entered into by an individual claiming to be authorised to enter into Transactions on behalf of the Customer if such individual has used the password and answerback or identifier and token or used the e-mail address specified by the Customer or his attorney in fact. The Customer undertakes to secure any and all equipment and information necessary for identification against third party access. Transactions executed in violation of the security principles shall be binding upon the Customer.

12. If the Customer opts out from identification with a password or answerback, provisions of § 5.11 shall apply accordingly.
13. In the case when, pursuant to EMIR Legislation, the Transaction is subject to the obligation of settlement by CCP, the Parties are obliged to agree on CCP to whom the Transaction Settlement is to be submitted.
14. The recorded phone or electronic communication which results or may result in entering into the Transaction is available at the Customer's request during the period of five years from the Transaction Date or longer if it is required by applicable law to make the communication available.
15. The Bank shall exercise due care to make the recorded communication available immediately, however, not later than within ten Business Days from the date when the Customer made the request. Given the complexity of the Customer's request and a possible necessity to obtain archive recordings, the Bank reserves the right to prolong this period, about which it shall immediately notify the Customer, indicating a new period of time to make the recorded communication available. The Bank has the right to collect a fee on account of making the recorded communication available in line with the "Tariff of banking fees and commissions of mBank for SME and Corporates".

§ 6. Transaction Platform

1. The Transaction Platform is made available only to those Customers who are a party to the Integrated Bank Account Agreement or Agreement on Using the Internet Customer Service System mBank CompanyNet of mBank S.A., who meet the technical requirements specified in the "Regulations on Opening, Holding and Closing an Integrated Bank Account at mBank S.A. – Part 2 mBank S.A. Internet Customer Service System mBank CompanyNet" or the Regulations "mBank S.A. Internet Customer Service System mBank CompanyNet".
2. Transaction Terms within the scope specified in the Information Sheet may be agreed through the Transaction Platform, provided that such transaction type has been made available in the Transaction Platform.
3. The Customer must not provide illegal or unlawful content through the Transaction Platform.
4. Specific principles for agreeing on the Transaction Terms and any additional services provided through the Transaction Platform are specified on the Transaction Platform web sites in the "HELP" section.

§ 7. Confirmations

1. Following entering into a Transaction, the Bank shall promptly, however no later than until the end of the Transaction Date, confirm the agreed Transaction Terms to the Customer by delivering the Confirmation to the Customer.
2. Confirmations may be delivered: in writing, by fax, in electronic form (in particular by e-mail or by making the Transaction Terms available to the Customer on the Transaction Platform) or in any other form agreed between the Parties. In the case of Term Deposit Transactions and FX Spot Transactions, Transaction Confirmation may consist of a statement of the current or shadow account made available to the Customer pursuant to the bank account agreement.
3. A Transaction shall be validly entered into regardless of whether the Transaction Confirmation has been provided. The content of the Transaction Confirmation may not amend the Agreed Transaction Terms. The Transaction Confirmation shall not require signatures of the Parties or seal of the Bank.
4. The Customer shall verify the content of the received Transaction Confirmation.
5. Unless the Master Agreement, the Terms and Conditions or the Transaction Description provide otherwise, a Transaction may be deemed to be confirmed if the Customer raises no objection to the content of the Transaction Confirmation (in particular, confirms adjustments or amendments, if any, to the agreed Transaction Terms) until the end of the first (1st) Business Day after the date of receipt of the Confirmation.
6. In case of any discrepancies between the agreed Transaction Terms and the content of the Confirmation, the record of the agreed Transaction Terms shall prevail.

§ 8. Transaction Settlement

1. Subject to other provisions of these Terms and Conditions, the Master Agreement and the Transaction Descriptions, in order to settle the Transactions, the Parties shall make payments under the Transaction(s) in accordance with the agreed Transaction Terms.
2. When calculating the amounts of liabilities and receivables arising from the Transaction Settlement, the Bank rounds the amounts off in accordance with the standard applicable at the interbank market for the given transaction type.
3. Transactions shall be settled through the Settlement Accounts of the Customer and the Bank. As a standard, in the case of the Customer, they shall be the accounts maintained with the Bank. Unless the Master Agreement or the relevant appendix thereto so provides, the settlements may be made through the Customer's Settlement Accounts maintained with different bank.
4. If the Customer has more than one Settlement Account maintained with the Bank, the Customer shall be obligated to specify, at the time of entering into the Transaction at the latest, which of the Settlement Accounts maintained with the Bank shall serve the purpose of the Transaction Settlement. If, in the course of agreeing on the Transaction Terms, the Customer fails to specify any of the Customer's Settlement Accounts, the Transaction Settlement shall be made to the first of the Settlement Accounts specified in the Information Sheet that is maintained in the same currency as the currency of the Transaction Settlement.
5. In the case where the Customer wishes to perform the Transaction Settlement through the Settlement Account maintained with another bank, the Customer shall each time, no later than three (3) Business Days prior to the Transaction Settlement date, indicate to the Bank such Settlement Account as the account designated for the Transaction Settlement purposes.
6. The Customer may replace the Settlement Account maintained with the Bank and indicated in the Information Sheet with a different Settlement Account maintained with the Bank no later than two (2) Business Days before the Transaction Settlement. If the replacement referred to in the foregoing sentence occurs at a later time, the Customer shall not be entitled to any incidental benefits for the Bank's delay in payment under Transaction Settlement in favour of the Customer.
7. The Customer shall be obligated to provide funds on the Customer's Settlement Account maintained with the Bank in an amount due to the Bank as at the liability maturity date, or, on the bank account indicated to the Customer by the Bank, in the instance referred to in the third sentence of § 8.3 above.
8. If the Transaction is settled through the Customer's Settlement Accounts maintained with the Bank, then, on the Settlement Date, the Bank shall credit or debit, respectively, the Settlement Account of the Customer maintained with the Bank with the full amount of the Customer's liability towards the Bank under Transaction Settlement regardless of the amount of the balance available on the Settlement Account of the Customer maintained with the Bank.
9. If on the Transaction Settlement Date there are no funds on the Customer's Settlement Account through which the Transaction Settlement is performed in an amount requested to perform the Transaction Settlement by the Bank, the Bank shall have the right to charge any (current or shadow) account of the Customer maintained with the Bank with an amount required to perform the Transaction Settlement; the Bank shall first charge the account maintained in the same currency as the Transaction Settlement currency.
10. If an account maintained in a different currency is credited or debited, the Bank shall convert the funds accumulated on such account at the rate quoted in the Foreign Exchange Rates Table applicable as at the moment of debiting.
11. If the Transaction Settlement is performed through the Settlement Accounts of the Customer maintained with another bank, then:
 - 1/ on the Settlement Date, the Customer shall transfer an amount required to perform the Transaction Settlement to the Bank's Settlement Account; the moment when the funds are recorded on the Bank's Settlement Account shall be deemed to be the moment of payment,
 - 2/ on the Settlement Date, the Bank shall transfer an amount required to perform the Transaction Settlement to the Customer's Settlement Account maintained outside the Bank, with the provision that in a Transaction Settlement providing for mutual payment of liabilities on the same Settlement Date, the Bank shall have the right to refrain itself from its payment as referred to in § 8.11.2 above until it receives the funds pursuant to § 8.11.1 above, and not to make a payment on the Settlement Date, if the Customer fails to provide funds on the Bank's Settlement Account at the time specified by the Bank to enable the Bank to make a payment on the Settlement Date, which will not constitute an Event of Default with respect to the Bank and shall not entitle the Customer to demand interest for a delay in payment.

12. If an unauthorised debit arises on the Settlement Account of the Customer maintained with the Bank as a consequence of Transaction Settlement, the Customer shall be obligated to promptly repay the unauthorised debit.
13. Repayment (performance) of pecuniary obligation under the Transaction by the Customer shall not be treated as an effective performance of the Transaction Settlement or repayment of any other payment falling due under the Transaction if the funds obtained by the Bank thereunder are subsequently returned following the decision of a competent court or authority or if the payment has been otherwise annulled.

§ 9. Events of Default

1. Each of the following events occurring with respect to each Party shall constitute an Event of Default with respect to such Party (the "Defaulting Party"):
 - 1/ failure to perform a payment on its maturity date, which the Party is obliged to make under the Master Agreement or a Transaction if such a lack of payment lasts longer than one (1) Business Day;

 - b/ the party's failure to meet its obligations under credit agreements, loan agreements, leasing agreements or other agreements of similar character charged with credit risk to the extent justifying termination of such agreements on the conditions provided therein, save that with regard to the Bank the amount of claims asserted under such agreement shall not be lower than EUR 50,000,000.00,
 - c/ seizure by enforcement authority of debts under one or more bank accounts of the Party, save that, with regard to the Bank, such a seizure shall not be lower than the amount of EUR 50,000,000.00,
 - d/ institution of enforcement proceedings against the Party in which the amount of claims asserted accounts for a significant portion of liabilities of the Party, save that, with regard to the Bank, the amount of claims asserted shall not be lower than 3% of equity (calculated on consolidated basis),
 - e/ occurrence of other events affecting the legal, financial or economic situation of the Customer, which, in the Bank's point of view, may cause increase of the risk of the Customer's failure to meet his obligations under the Transactions executed,
 - 8/ occurrence of the following factual or legal events resulting in loss or decrease of the value of the Collateral, including in particular:
 - a/ establishing the Collateral ineffectively or discovering legal defect(s) in the assets constituting the Collateral,

 - c/ establishment of the Collateral that is legally ineffective or is null and void,
 - d/ discovering legal defect(s) in the assets constituting the Collateral,

 - f/ false representations or warranties included in any documents submitted by the Party, necessary for establishing or changing the Collateral,
 - 9/ material breach by the Customer of terms of any transaction entered into with the Bank that is not a Transaction,
 - 10/ the Party's having ceased or threatening to cease to conduct the business activity in whole or in part,
 - 11/ withdrawal or expiry of any consent or approval or other licenses required for the validity of the Master Agreement, the Transactions executed or allowing the Party to perform its obligations under the Master Agreement or the executed Transactions.
 - 12/ occurrence of the following events:
 - a/ expiration of the period for which, according to the articles of association, the Customer was established,
 - b/ discontinuation of the performance of the depository's duties, if no agreement to maintain the register was entered into with another depository,
 - c/ failure to take over the fund's management within the time limit set out in Article 68 Sec. 2 of the Act on Funds by a company other than investment fund company in connection with the decision to cancel the license or with its expiration,
 - d/ adoption of a resolution on dissolving the fund by a board of investors or a meeting of investors,
 - e/ occurrence of events specified in the Customer's articles of association, resulting in the dissolution of the Customer,
 - 13/ the Customer's failure to close all the Derivative Transactions within 5 Business Days if, during the term of the Master Agreement, the value of net assets held by the Customer being an open-ended or a specialist open-ended investment fund falls below the value set out in Article 92 Sec. 1 of the Act on Funds (or any relevant provision substituting it).
2. The Defaulting Party shall be obligated to promptly inform the other Party (the "Non-Defaulting Party") of the occurrence of any of the Events of Default affecting the Defaulting Party.

§ 10. Consequences of Event of Default

1. If an Event of Default occurs, then:
 - 1/ immediately after having become aware of the occurrence of Event of Default, the Non-Defaulting Party shall notify the Defaulting Party, by fax, e-mail or in writing, of stating the occurrence of Event of Default,
 - 2/ if, upon the lapse of the second (2nd) Business Day after the day of delivery (or attempted delivery pursuant to § 10.1.1 above) of the notice on the Event of Default, the Event of Default referred to in § 10.1.1 is continuing, then:
 - a/ if the Bank is the Non-Defaulting Party, the Bank shall have the right to perform an Early Termination by calculating the Net Present Value for each Transaction subject to Early Termination and calculate the Early Termination Amount pursuant to § 10.4 below; the day on which the Bank performs the Early Termination shall become the Early Termination Date;
 - b/ if the Bank is the Defaulting Party and the notice referred to in § 10.1.1 above is not manifestly unfunded, the Bank shall set the Early Termination Date that may not fall later than on the twentieth (20th) Business Day after the notice referred to in § 10.1.1 and perform the Early Termination by calculating the Net Present Value for each Transaction subject to the Early Termination and calculate the Early Termination Amount pursuant to § 10.4 below.
2. If an Event of Default occurs with respect to a Party, then as of the time it has become aware of the Event of Default, the Non-Defaulting Party shall have the right to refrain from paying any amounts in favour of the Defaulting Party under the Transaction, save for the Term Deposit Transactions, and shall not be obligated to pay any late payment interest thereunder. The said right shall be vested in the Non-Defaulting Party until the Event of Default ceases to exist or becomes remedied and the Defaulting Party has settled any and all liabilities under the Master Agreement and the Transactions.
3. As of the Early Termination Date, the obligations of the Bank and the Customer (whether due or not) arising from the Transactions (save for the Term Deposit Transactions) shall become the obligation to determine and pay the Early Termination Amount (which, however, shall not constitute a novation within the meaning of Article 506 § 1 of the Civil Code).
4. The Early Termination Amount calculated by the Bank as at the Early Termination Date shall be equal to the sum of the following values:
 - 1/ the sum of the due or undue liabilities of the Bank and the Customer under the Transactions (save for the Term Deposit Transactions) calculated in the manner set out for calculating the Net Present Value of each Transaction subject to the Early Termination; and

- 2/ the value of the matured liabilities due and payable by each Party under the Transactions (other than the Term Deposit Transactions).
5. After calculating the Early Termination Amount, the Bank shall either credit (if the Early Termination Amount is payable to the Customer) or debit (if the Early Termination Amount is payable to the Bank) the Settlement Account of the Customer maintained with the Bank. If the Customer has no Settlement Account maintained with the Bank, he shall be obligated to pay, no later than until the end of the Business Day following the Early Termination Date, the amount corresponding to the Early Termination Amount to the account specified by the Bank. If the Early Termination Amount is payable to the Customer, the Bank shall remit the Early Termination Amount to the Settlement Account of the Customer maintained outside the Bank.
 6. Any calculations related to the computing of the Early Termination Amount are performed by the Bank. After having calculated the Early Termination Amount and performed the Early Termination, the Bank shall notify the Customer about the value of the Early Termination Amount in the manner specified in § 10.1.1 above. If the Customer requests so in writing, the Bank shall substantiate the Early Termination Amount calculated by the Bank.
 7. The Bank shall have the right to request to be reimbursed for, and the Customer shall cover all documented costs and charges related to the Early Termination. The Bank may also seek compensation on general terms in accordance with provisions of the Civil Code.

§ 11. Termination Events

2. The Party affected by the Termination Event shall be obligated to promptly notify the other Party thereof, and in the case of the Tax Event, the Party shall be obligated to present an opinion of a person holding appropriate professional qualifications to have the occurrence of such Tax Event confirmed.
3. Failure, by the Party affected by the Termination Event, to make payment under the Transaction shall not be deemed as delay or Event of Default; however, the other Party shall have the right to refrain from performing mutual obligations under the Transaction.
4. If, after occurrence of the Termination Event, a Party has fulfilled a performance arising from a Transaction in favour of the other Party but has not received from the other Party any payable sum under the Transaction, the performing Party shall be entitled to request return of what was received by the second Party.
5. If the Termination Event occurs and affects either Party, the Parties in good faith shall enter into negotiations in order to eliminate the Termination Event; however, such negotiations may not last longer than five (5) Business Days, unless the Parties agree on a different deadline for completing negotiations. If the negotiations do not lead to elimination of the Termination Event, the Transaction, with respect to which the Termination Event referred to in § 11.1 above occurred, shall be settled early in accordance with § 10 above, which § 10 shall apply accordingly, without the necessity to observe the deadlines stipulated therein.

§ 12. Notices

3. If the Customer's objections are recognised, then, immediately after the answer or explanations referred to in § 13.2 above have been provided, the Bank shall deliver to the Customer a revised version of the Confirmation, the report together with Transaction Package valuation or the Collateral report, as the case may be.
4. If the objections raised by the Customer are dismissed, the Customer shall have the right to lodge a complaint in writing with the Bank. If no complaint has been lodged within five (5) Business Days, the Customer shall be deemed to have accepted the explanations provided to him by the Bank.

6. A complaint may be filed with the Bank's organisational unit providing customer service in writing, electronically, by phone or in person during a meeting with the Bank's employee.

10. The Bank shall keep record of all disputes related to Transactions entered into between the Bank and the Customer, including in particular information concerning the time during which the dispute has remained unsettled, the details of the Customer who has been a party to the dispute and the contested amount.
11. For the avoidance of doubt, unless the Bank and the Customer agree otherwise and subject to the mandatory provisions of law and definitive or final decisions or judgements of competent courts or other authorities, if there is a dispute as referred to above between the Bank and the Customer, such a dispute shall not affect the scope of the rights and obligations of the Parties under the Transactions concluded, in particular, such a dispute shall not affect the validity of the concluded Transactions.

§ 14. Portfolio Reconciliation

1. The Bank shall provide the Customer with a report together with Transaction Package valuation, including:

If the Customer discovers any inconsistency, the Customer should promptly, however, no later than within two (2) Business Days from the date of receipt of the report with the valuation, contact the Bank in order to clarify inconsistencies, if any, or raise objections to the content of the report acting pursuant to § 13.1.2 above.

6. The Customer undertakes to promptly inform the Bank whenever he/she does not receive the report with the valuation from the Bank within the deadlines resulting from the EMIR Legislation provided for reconciliation of portfolios of Transactions in Derivatives.

§ 15. Transaction Notification

1. The Customer authorises the Bank to perform, on behalf of the Customer, Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives (in particular of any amendments thereto and the fact of termination thereof) entered into with the Bank to the Trade Repository in accordance with the requirements resulting from the EMIR Legislation; the requirements apply both to Transactions in Derivatives executed with the Bank after the obligation to notify Transactions in Derivatives in accordance with the EMIR Legislation has come into force and Transactions in Derivatives executed with the Bank before the obligation has become effective within the scope specified in the EMIR Legislation. The Bank shall choose the Trade Repository to which Transactions in Derivatives are to be reported. The Bank may choose more than one Trade Repository. By publishing information on the Bank's web site or in the form of an announcement published to the electronic banking system, the Bank shall inform the Customers about the Trade Repository(ies) to which it shall report Transactions in Derivatives. If the Customer so requests, the Bank shall provide information referred to in the foregoing sentence to the Customer in writing.
2. The reporting of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository (including any changes to the thereto and the fact of termination thereof) shall take place in accordance with the principles and within deadlines specified in the EMIR Legislation and the agreement between the Bank and the given Trade Repository. The scope and the principles of notifying Transactions in Derivatives (including any and all changes thereto and the fact of termination thereof) by the Bank to the Trade Repositories depends on the requirements imposed by in mandatory provisions of law, in particular the EMIR Legislation, and the agreement between the Bank and specific Trade Repository.
3. With regard to Transactions in Derivatives entered into with the Bank, the Customer authorises the Bank to access the Customer's data contained in the Trade Repository, obtain from the Trade Repository information concerning the Customer or Transactions in Derivatives entered into therewith and perform, on behalf of the Customer, any other activities and make declarations of will concerning the data that are subject to the Notification of Transactions in Derivatives executed with the Bank.
4. Should the Customer wish to make Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository (in particular any changes to thereto and the fact of termination thereof) acting on his own, he shall notify the Bank thereof in writing and, subsequently, agree with the Bank on a detailed manner in which the contents of the Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository (in particular any and all changes thereto and the fact of termination thereof) are to be agreed upon. The aforementioned notification shall be binding upon the Bank after the lapse of the second (2nd) Business Day from the day when the above-described manner of agreeing on the content of the Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository was finally agreed with the Bank and the Bank confirmed it in writing. Notwithstanding the method in which the contents of the notifications to the Trade Repository are agreed with the Bank, in the event where a Customer Notifies a Transaction in Derivatives to the Trade Repository acting on his own, then, for the purposes of reporting Notifications to the Trade Repository, the Customer shall use Transactions in Derivatives identification codes referred to in the EMIR Legislation, as assigned thereto by the Bank and contained in the Confirmations of specific Transactions in Derivatives provided to the Customer by the Bank with regard to such Transactions in Derivatives. For the avoidance of doubt, if the Customer notifies the Bank of his intention to make the Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository acting on his own, the Customer shall report any changes or terminations of Transactions in Derivatives already notified to the Trade Repository by the Bank acting on behalf of the Customer. The Bank shall not be liable for any loss suffered by the Customer in connection with reporting Transactions in Derivatives (in particular any changes thereto and the fact of termination thereof) to the Trade Repository by the Customer acting on his own. If the Customer who makes Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives (in particular any and all changes thereto and the fact of termination thereof) to the Trade Repository acting on his own wishes that the Bank assumes the reporting of Transactions in Derivatives (in particular any and all changes thereto and the fact of termination thereof) to the Trade Repository acting on behalf of the Customer, then the Customer shall notify the Bank of that fact in writing. Unless the Bank informs the Customer within five (5) Business Days from the date of delivery of such notification that the Bank does not agree to report the Transactions to the Trade Repository on behalf of the Customer, then provisions of this § 15 concerning the Transaction reporting to the Trade Repository on behalf of the Customer shall apply directly starting from the first (1st) Business Day falling after ineffective lapse of the aforesaid five(5)-day deadline or on a different Business Day specified by the Bank to the Customer.

5. All data concerning the Customer that the Bank has in its possession required for the Bank to duly make Notification of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository (in particular any changes thereto and the fact of termination thereof) executed with the Customer (in particular the Customer's telephone number and address details, business name, registered seat and the legal status of the Customer, particulars required to assign the Customer to the FC Counterparty category and information related to the Customer's LEI (Legal Entity Identifier) or BIC (Business Identifier Code) numbers shall be deemed as up-to-date by the Bank and the Bank shall use them to make Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives to Trade Repositories unless the Customer notifies the Bank of change of the data; the latter notification shall be effective as of the second (2nd) Business Day after the date of delivery thereof to the Bank.
6. The Bank may (acting at its own discretion, in writing or by e-mail) request the Customer to promptly (however, no later than within one (1) Business Day from the date of the Customer's receipt of the Bank's inquiry thereof) confirm whether the data referred to in § 15.5 above are up-to-date and promptly (however, no later than one (1) Business Day from the day the Customer has received the inquiry from the Bank) provide additional information, make representations or perform any other activity that is necessary for the Bank to make a Notification of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository on behalf of the Customer regardless of whether such additional information, representation or activity is required by virtue of law, in particular under the EMIR Legislation, or under agreement executed between the Bank and specific Trade Repository.
7. In the event that:
 - 1/ the Customer fails to promptly confirm, upon the request from the Bank referred to in § 15.6 above, that his data are up-to-date; or
 - 2/ the Customer has failed to promptly provide additional information; or
 - 3/ submit representation(s); or
 - 4/ take any other steps that are necessary to make the Notification of Transactions in Derivatives to the Trade Repository, upon request from the Bank, referred to in § 15.6 above, the Bank shall have the right, at its own discretion:
 - 5/ not to make Notifications of Transactions in Derivatives on behalf of the Customer, of which the Bank shall inform the Customer; or

 - 2/ the Transaction in Derivatives entered into by the Customer shall be executed in his own name and on his own account;
 - 3/ unless the Customer has declared otherwise, it is assumed that the Transaction is not a security short sale transaction (or a part of such a transaction) within the meaning of Regulation (EU) No 236/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 March 2012 on short selling and certain aspects of credit default swaps;

- 4/ when entering into the Transaction, the Customer confirms that the Transaction is not subject to the obligation to trade referred to in § 1.16.

3. Provisions of § 15.10 and § 15.11 shall apply accordingly.
4. § 18. Types of Collateral

§ 19. Required Collateral

1. The value of the Collateral shall be calculated by the Bank for each of the Parties, as at each Pricing Date, according to the data from the Pricing Date. To determine the value of the Collateral the Bank shall calculate the value of:

 - 2/ the Required Collateral;
 - 3/ the Established Collateral.
2. The value of the Required Collateral shall be equal to the amount of the Party's Exposure less the Amount of the Limit for that Party specified in the Credit Support Agreement. Unless the Parties in the Credit Support Agreement stipulate otherwise, the Amount of the Limit shall be zero.
3. If on any Pricing Date the value of the Required Collateral calculated for the Party exceeds the value of the Collateral established in its favour, the other Party shall be obliged to pay a difference between the value of the Required Collateral and the Established Collateral (the "Payment Amount").
4. If on any Pricing Date the value of the Collateral established for the Party exceeds the value of the Collateral required in its favour, this Party shall be obliged to make a refund of the difference between the value of the Established Collateral and the Required Collateral (the "Refund Amount").
5. The obligation to pay the Payment Amount or the Refund Amount shall not arise if the value of any of these amounts is lower than the value of the Minimum Transfer Amount. This provision shall not apply in the case when:
 - 1/ between the Parties there are no executed and unsettled Transactions forming part of the Transaction Package; or

3. The Bank may make execution of the Transaction dependent upon the establishment of the Required Collateral in the amount agreed with the Customer before the Transaction is entered into. In such case, the Bank shall collect the agreed amount of the Required Collateral from the Customer's Settlement Account or the Customer shall pay the agreed amount of the Required Collateral to the account specified by the Bank. Where there has been no Transaction, the Required Collateral shall be refunded in accordance with the principles specified in § 19.
4. In the event that the Established Collateral is provided in a currency other than Polish Zloty, then, for the purpose of determining its value, the Bank shall convert the Collateral at the exchange rate determined by the Bank on the basis of the quotations from the interbank market from 4.30 p.m. on the Pricing Date.

8. Failure, by either Party, to observe the deadlines stipulated in § 20.5 and § 20.7, shall be treated as the acceptance of the calculation of the opposing Party.
9. Obligations of the Parties to provide or refund the Collateral shall depend upon the fulfilment of the conditions precedent assuming that no Event of Default (or the event which, according to the definition of the particular Event of Default, would become an Event of Default upon the lapse of the stipulated deadline) has occurred in relation to the other Party.
10. The Established Collateral shall bear interest at the rate agreed by the Parties in the Credit Support Agreement. Interest shall be calculated by the Bank for each of the Parties for each day of the calendar month per annum, taking into account positive and negative interest rates.
